1) S - Situation

The main purpose of registering for this Iqra class is to enhance my tajweed in reading al-Quran. I also attended this class during my younger age but it doesn't hurt to join this class again because learning tajweed is a Fardhu Ain in Islam. I know that even a single mistake in tajweed during reciting al-Quran can lead to the incorrect meaning or translation and can become a major sin if we just let it like that and do not care to even correct it. So, this is very important for us as a Muslim. In the first class of Iqra, there are almost 50 people who want to correct and also enhance on reciting the beautiful al-Quran.

2) T - Task

During week 10 in this semester, all the students in Iqra class are assigned to make a project based on our learning of Iqra class. First thing first we discussed between us about what activity is suitable for our Iqra learning. There are some people who give some of their ideas. In the end, we decided to make a workshop that we called Tajweed Empowerment Workshop. Our main objective is to teach some people about some basic tajweed and how to recite al-Quran more correctly but also make it more fun so that the participants can be more focused on our workshop. That is why we provide an activity like a quiz and some small reward for those who can answer some questions during the lecture.

3) A - Action

After that we decided on a project that we called Tajweed Empowerment Workshop. We divided some of the tasks so that the workshop will run smoothly as planned. One of the students and I have been assigned to buy some treats to give to the participants as a reward. The treat we were planning is to buy a small book and a pen for them to write the important note during the lecture and another treat is the sweet or candy as a reward to them if they can answer the presenter question correctly.

4) R - Result

At the end of our workshop, Alhamdulillah, the workshop ran smoothly, we were able to finish it on time without a delay. Based on the workshop event, I have learned how to communicate with other students and make teamwork more effective. Then, I also learn how to be more responsible to make the event go as planned. Additionally, I gained valuable insights into managing time efficiently and handling unexpected challenges with a positive attitude. This experience taught me to be a better person during team working and can also be implemented in the work life in the future. Overall, it was a rewarding experience that helped me grow both personally and professionally.

5) R - Reflection

Reflecting on my experience with the Iqra class and the Tajweed Empowerment Workshop, I feel immensely grateful for the opportunity to enhance my understanding of tajweed and contribute to an impactful event. Joining the Iqra class was a personal decision to improve my recitation of the Quran, knowing how vital tajweed is in preserving the correct meaning and message of the Quranic verses. I realized that learning tajweed is not just a religious obligation but also a lifelong commitment to spiritual growth.

Through this class, I was able to take part in a meaningful project—the Tajweed Empowerment Workshop. Planning and organizing the workshop taught me the value of teamwork and the importance of listening to and integrating different ideas. My role in purchasing treats and rewards for participants, along with other responsibilities, gave me practical experience in dividing tasks and staying organized. I also learned how to create a welcoming and engaging environment for participants by including fun activities like quizzes and small rewards.

Most importantly, the workshop helped me grow personally and professionally. I learned how to communicate effectively with my peers, manage my time wisely, and remain composed in handling challenges. This experience has reinforced my sense of responsibility and taught me how to collaborate better with others—skills I am confident will benefit me in the future. Overall, it was a fulfilling and enriching experience that left me feeling accomplished and inspired to continue improving myself.
